

Job offer for Staff Specialist in diagnostic radiology in Northern Denmark

The Regional Hospital North Jutland Thisted is one of Denmark's 21 acute hospitals. In April 2013, we inaugurated a newly constructed emergency ward with 11 beds and an acute ward with 16 beds. This includes hypermodern trauma reception facilities, with the possibility of conventional radiology and trauma CT scan - as well as a level 2 ICU.

This is a hospital with a pioneering spirit and ambition. Among other things, the hospital is front-runner in a national development project and has achieved high international results in the project "Patient Safe Hospital."

Description of the diagnostic radiology position in Thisted:

The Radiology department

The radiology department is part of the diagnostic clinic, that also consists of Clinical biochemistry section. The imaging sections perform all conventional examinations and work closely together with the University Hospital in the region. The radiology department performs approximately 46.500 examinations/interventions per year.

The staff in the department consists of 6 radiologists, 7 medical secretaries and 2 radiographers/nurses.

The department is constantly evolving and is fully digitalised with Easy-Viz, RIS and PACS. It holds two 128 slices CT scanners, one Phillips and one Siemens and three ultra sound machines.

The department examines both outpatients and inpatients and emergency patients. In addition, the department also has a Siemens Magnetom Avanto 1,5 T MRI scanner for studying inpatients and out patients.

The imaging section plays a central role in cancer investigations and treatment plans and offers support to the acute department in the hospital.

The Job:

You will work in a busy department where you will experience an extraordinary work atmosphere. You will be involved in all daily operations and activities. You can expect to form part of a great team of professionals who work together in an informal tone and in an open environment. You will experience that you have great opportunity to influence your own work planning and execution of daily tasks.

Duties are to be expected. On call from home. There will also be possibility of working from home.
